

COMM200 PERSUASIVE SPEECH

Republic Is Not Democracy

Voting without citizen power is oligarchy.

A system can keep the democratic costume while stripping citizens of command.

THE CORE DECEPTION

A ballot is not sovereignty.

Elections can crown decision-makers while citizens lose command over law, agenda, and accountability.

ARGUMENT 1

Voting Is Not Rule

- Res publica claims the public interest.
- Officeholders decide what that interest means.
- Citizens choose rulers, then vanish from power.
- No agenda power means no sovereignty.

FILTER OF POWER

Parties

REAL COMMAND

Parliament

Policy is drawn after the people have already been reduced to approval.

ARGUMENT 2

Representation Replaces the Citizen

First we vote. Then power leaves us.

Rule by Networks, Not Citizens

Oligarchy does not need a mask forever. It needs access, money, and gatekeepers.

- Party machines decide who enters.
- Economic power buys influence.
- Media visibility manufactures attention.
- Appointments protect the system.

Access becomes the hidden constitution: who enters, who is heard, who is protected, and who is abandoned.

LEGITIMACY CRISIS

Citizens Cannot Rule in the Dark

When surveillance, pressure, and silence expand, sovereignty becomes theater.

SATISFACTION

Return Power to the Citizen Body

Referendum. Initiative. Recall. Audit. Justice. The people must hold constitutional authority.

Oligarchy or Democracy

Republic as Oligarchy

- Voting without command
- Party delegates
- Elite networks
- Hidden bargains
- Citizens without power

Democracy of Citizens

- The citizen body rules
- Policy before persons
- Recall of officials
- Public audit
- Justice under citizen control

Stop Asking to Be Represented

- Name it: oligarchic republic.
- Demand binding referenda.
- Demand popular lawmaking.
- Demand recallable officials.
- Demand public audit.

Representation is not democracy. Power to the people is.
